

1. 2002 CAACME ANNUAL MEETING AND ELECTION IN DENVER, COLORADO

Year 2001 has been another successful and productive year for Chinese American Association of Corrosion and Materials Engineers (CAACME). As one of many most influential organizations in USA, we continue to strengthen the connection among worldwide Chinese corrosion professionals through participation and sponsorship. The website and mailing list have been built to serve our members faster and effective.

According to the organization bylaw, officers at the CAACME must be re-elected every 2 years. If you are interested one of the following:

- To organize and serve the Corrosion and Materials professionals with Chinese ethnic origin.
- To utilized your leadership ability for our professional organization
- To network with professionals worldwide engaged in corrosion, materials, coatings, etc.
- Interest in technical and business information exchange
